

The Literary Digest

Vol. XXXI., No. 5. Whole No. 797.

NEW YORK, JULY 29, 1905.

Price per Copy, 10c

CONTENTS

TOPICS OF THE DAY:

Is it the Body of Paul Jones?	133
Doubts About our Foreign Trade	134
Lessons of the Race Riots in New York	136
This Democratic Congress and the Russian Police	137
Some Hot Weather Reflections	138
Some "Hennington" Reflections	138
Acquittal of Justice Hooker	139
The Birmingham Disaster	139

LETTERS AND ART:

Some Attempts to "Place" Bernard Shaw	140
Some Musical Parasites	140
A British Thrust at American Scholarship	141
A Physiological Theory of Verse	141
Collecting American Paintings	142
Dramatic Art and the Masses	142
Collecting American Hispanians Compared	143

SCIENCE AND INVENTION:

Four American Historians Compared	143
Detection of Submarines	144

SOME NEW INVENTION:

Chinese Physicians	144
A New Method of Forecasting Storm Movement	146
Land-Bottom Insects	146
A New Method of Forecasting Storm Movement	146
Winning a Battle by Telephone	147
"Radioes" and their Discoverer	147
Winning a Battle by Telephone and Metal	148
Another War to Save Niagara	148
The Divine of Central Africa	149
Radioes and their Discoverer	149

THE RELIGIOUS WORLD:

Another Study on the Niagara-School	149
The Deeds of Rengibus Controversy	149

THE RELIGIOUS WORLD: Fine Arts"

A Returning Age of Faith	150
International Unrest in the Congregational Church	151
The Great Theological Controversy	151
Through International Conventions Arts."	152
Retaining Life of the Negro	152

FOREIGN COMMENT:

Liturgical Unrest in the Congregational Church	151
A Godless Theology	151
French and British Comment on the Return of the International Conventions	152
How France Will Check Our Imperialism	153
Retaining Life of the Negro	154
Possibilities of the Crisis in Hungary	156
French and British Comment on the Return of	156

MISCELLANEOUS

How France Will Check Our Imperialism	158-162
---	---------

Possibilities of the Crisis in Hungary	156
MISCELLANEOUS	158-162